It is understood that the policy of Hitchcock in listening to what everybody has to say on both sides of the Hughes question was approved by the president and the latter advised that that course be continued until the sentiment of the various sections and classes of the state is ascertained. Great interest is shown in political circles here regarding the story printed in Chicago today that Elmer E. Dover, secretary of the national committee had resigned. Dover arrived in New York today. The Chicago dispatch was shown him and he denied that he had resigned. Hitchcock stated tonight that he had not heard that Dover intended to resign and he added that he did not credit the report.
